CONDITIONS OF SALE

ALL BIDS TO BE PER LOT AS NUMBERED IN THE CATALOGUE.

The highest bidder to be the buyer. In all cases of disputed bids the decision of the Auctioneer shall be final.

Buyers to give their names and addresses and to make such cash payments on account as may be required, in default of which the lots purchased shall be resold immediately.

Purchases to be removed at the buyer's expense and risk within twenty-four hours from the conclusion of the sale, and the remainder of the purchase money to be paid on or before delivery, in default of which The Anderson Galleries, Incorporated, will not be responsible for any loss or damage whatever, but the lot or lots will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser, and subject to storage charges.

All lots will be placed on public exhibition before the date of sale, for examination by intending purchasers, and The Anderson Galleries, Incorporated, will not be responsible for the correctness of the description, authenticity, genuineness, or for any defect or fault in or concerning any lot, and make no warranty whatever, but will sell each lot exactly as it is, WITHOUT RECOURSE.

If accounts are not paid and purchases removed within twenty-four hours of the conclusion of the sale, or, in the case of absent buyers, when bills are rendered, any sum deposited as part payment shall be forfeited, and The Anderson Galleries, Incorporated, reserve the right to resell the lot or lots by either private or public sale, without further notice, and if any deficiency arises from such resale it shall be made good by the defaulter, together with all expenses incurred. This condition shall be without prejudice to the right of this Company to enforce the sale contract and collect the amount due without such resale, at its own option.

The Anderson Galleries, Incorporated, will afford every facility for the employment of carriers and packers by the purchasers, but will not be responsible for any damage arising from the acts of such carriers and packers.

The Anderson Galleries make no charge for executing orders for their customers and use all bids competitively, buying at the lowest price permitted by other bids.

FOREWORD

IT has become sufficiently clear to-day that we are quite at the end of that exciting period when superb prints were coming to light, monthly and sometimes weekly, from out the century-old treasure-houses of Japan. The supply is now exhausted, and no new discoveries of any importance can be hoped for. Japanese prints are now a known and limited body of works of art; here, just as in the field of Greek sculpture, future finds must necessarily be of rare occurrence and of comparatively minor importance. Only on the occasions when existing private collections are broken up will it ever again be possible for anyone to acquire fine examples of this art.

The collection here catalogued, though not so large in numbers as the collection of nine hundred prints which I formed and disposed of some years ago, is much finer in quality than was my earlier collection. It contains a number of prints that are rare, and some that are unique. All the greatest artists are represented, usually by many characteristic masterpieces. With a few exceptions—which are noted in the catalogue—all the sheets are fine impressions, admirably preserved; and I believe that even the few exceptions have some special interest and beauty which gives them a reason for being here. (See Number 41 of Catalogue.) There is here not a single example of the ordinary rubbish that is sometimes peddled out to the unwary under the name of Japanese prints. Indeed, I do not think I exaggerate when I say that no one of these sheets is unworthy of a place in any public or private collection.

Special attention may be directed to the pillar-prints. No such group has heretofore appeared in any sale or any exhibition. The pillar-print form—one of the most exacting shapes which any artist has ever attempted—seems to have been a real stimulus and challenge to the genius of Harunobu, Koriūsai, Kiyonaga, and other Japanese designers; and their best works in this form are as notable as they are rare. They are the hardest of all prints to find in even reasonably good condition; for they have suffered more from exposure than have the smaller prints. None of the pillar-prints in this collection is of the familiar muddy-chocolate type; most of them are of a rather exceptional freshness; and some are flawless.

The catalogue follows the only natural order, which is the chronological one. The main divisions of Japanese print-chronology are as follows:

The Five Periods

- 1 Period of the Primitives. 1660-1764.
(Numbers 1-40.)
- 2 Early Polychrome Period; Harunobu. 1764-1780.
(Numbers 41-133.)
- 3 Culminating Period; Kiyonaga. 1780-1790.
(Numbers 134-165.)
- 4 Decadent Period; Utamaro. 1790-1806.
(Numbers 166-252.)
- 5 Period of Landscape. 1806-1858.
(Numbers 253-362.)

I am including in this sale my entire collection, with the exception of a half-dozen prints which I keep to decorate my walls. In view of the quality of the prints offered, I have cut the descriptive text of the catalogue to a minimum, and allowed the reproductions to speak for themselves. In spite of the formal disclaimer of the auctioneer's responsibility which appears on an earlier page of this catalogue, I unqualifiedly guarantee the genuineness of every print offered; and I shall be glad to repurchase any one that is not authentic.

When in the descriptions I use the word "unique," I do not mean to make so foolish a statement as that I am sure no other copy of this print exists, tucked away somewhere. I mean merely that neither I nor half a dozen other experienced students of the subject have seen another copy. When I say that a certain print has been reproduced in some book or catalogue, I mean that this identical sheet is there reproduced. As to "condition,"—I have given my frank judgment in every case; but since tastes differ in these matters, the wise bidder will of course form his own opinion.

Most of these prints will naturally be taken up by experienced collectors or museums; but any sensitive person, no matter how unfamiliar he may be with Asiatic art, can get a good deal of enjoyment from looking at the collection before it is scattered. Therefore an especially cordial invitation is extended to the casual student and the "outsider" to visit the exhibition which will precede the sale. Many people who consider themselves outsiders will find that this art is not so sealed a book as they thought it. It is a region of experience whose charm is intense, and not to be found elsewhere in the world of art. As M. Charles Vignier aptly says, Japanese prints are the manifestation of "un moment exceptionnel de la sensibilité"—a peculiar and never-to-be recaptured instant in the history of man's long effort to understand and express himself.

FIRST SESSION

NUMBER 1

MORONOBU

(1625-1694)

50.00 1 Two Lovers

A fan-shaped design, richly colored by hand. This print is an interesting link between the earlier paintings and the prints, which Moronobu originated. From the Alexis Rouart Collection. Unique. Size $10\frac{3}{4} \times 11\frac{3}{4}$. Fine impression, beautifully colored; fine condition. 60.00

30.00 2 The Visit to the Temple

Several ladies and children, in the grounds of the Kiyomidzu Temple in Kyoto. Hand-colored. One of Moronobu's important large early prints. Another copy, from the Vever Collection, is reproduced in the V. I. Paris Catalogue, Vol. I, No. 11.

Size $11\frac{1}{2} \times 16$. Fine impression. There are several carefully mended tears and holes in the paper, and the print is somewhat brown. Prints of this early period are rare, in any condition whatsoever.

KWAIGETSUDO (NORITATSU)

(Worked c. 1715)

3 Standing Woman

The Kwaigetsudo prints are the rarest of all prints; only about thirty-six examples of the work of the four men who composed the school have come to light. Kwaigetsudo Nortitatsu is the rarest of the four; after careful investigation, the writer has been able to learn of the existence of only five prints by him. These are in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; the J. J. Marquet de Vasselot Collection, Paris; the Gilbert E. Fuller Collection, Boston; the Matsukata Collection, Kobe, Japan; and the present collection. The Matsukata print is the same design as this one.

None of the later artists ever surpassed the vigorous drawing of the Kwaigetsudo School. The works of these men are among the greatest of Japanese prints.

This print is reproduced in the August, 1923 number of "The Arts," illustrating an elaborate monograph on the Kwaigetsudos by the writer.

Size 23 x 12. Fine impression. The paper is greyed by time, and traces of mildew are perceptible; but the writer does not hesitate to describe the print as in fairly good condition.

UNKNOWN PRIMITIVE ARTISTS

(c. 1715)

4 Standing Girl

The lines of the robe are composed of skillfully-written characters, which form a phrase similar to our phrase, "I beg to remain, Your humble servant." Printed in black only. From the Collections of the Vicomte de Sartiges and of Alexis Rouart. Rare. — 65.00

Size $10\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$. Fine impression; flawless condition.

5 Standing Girl

An actor in the rôle of the romantic maiden Osome. The gorgeous robes sweep about the figure in decorative folds. The colors—salmon, blue, grey, yellow and gold—are applied by hand. Unique.

Size $11\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$. Perfect impression and condition.

NUMBER 6

TAMURA SADANOBU

(c. 1715)

6 Three Courtesans

An interior, showing the three young women making their toilets. The middle one is perfuming herself with incense. The charming title of the print, literally translated, is—"Styles of Girls' Clothes on Way to Bed."

Sadanobu is a very rare artist; few designs by him are known. This print is probably unique. It is richly colored by hand, in a manner that enhances the curious flame-like rhythm of the design.

An uncut triptych; size 12½ x 18½. The paper is frayed; but the color is still rich and glowing.

SUKENOBU

(1671-1751)

7 Young Girl

A charming figure standing on a veranda. An album-illustration.

Size 9 x 6. Good impression and condition.

NUMBER 8

NUMBER 9

KIYONOBU I

(1664-1729)

8 Man and Woman Before Lattice

The actor Sanjo Kantaro as a man, and the actor Ichimura Takenjo as a woman. A simple, massive design, richly colored by hand. From the Hayashi Collection. Unique.

Size 12 x 6. Fine impression and luminous state.

9 Furious Warrior

Portrait of the actor Danjuro the First. A powerful dramatic design, in the characteristic Torii manner. Richly colored by hand with salmon, black lacquer, yellow and gold. Unique.

Size 12 x 6. Fine impression and coloring. Paper slightly brown.

190.⁰⁰ 10 Girl Holding Paper

An actor in the rôle of a girl. Richly colored by hand with red, saffron and purple. Unique. All of Toshinobu's work is rare, for he died young, after making only a few prints. This is one of his finest works. From the Jaekel Collection.

Size 13 x 6½. Fine impression and condition.

65.⁰⁰ 11 Girl Seated on a Branch

A free and graceful design; in rich color and lacquer, applied by hand. From the Manzi Collection.

Size 13 x 6½. Fine impression and condition; paper slightly brown.

12 Rain and Wind-Swept Water

One of the loveliest of the early landscapes, colored very delicately by hand.

Size 13 x 6 $\frac{1}{4}$. There exist few prints in which the original early coloring is so perfectly preserved as here.

35.00

13 Girl Before Mirror

An actor in a female rôle. Richly colored by hand. A masterpiece of rhythmical drawing. Another copy is reproduced in Von Seidlitz, page 72.

Size 13 x 6 $\frac{1}{2}$. Fine impression and condition; paper toned.

NUMBER 14

NUMBER 15

KIYONOBU II

(Worked c. 1730-1755)

14 Man with Two Swords

The actor Ichimura Uzaimon as a samurai in rich robes. A curiously compact design, printed in green and yellow. Unique.

Size 11 x 5 $\frac{3}{4}$. Fine impression; good condition.

OKUMURA MASANOBU

(1685-1768)

15 A Court Lady

The lady is the legendary Sotori-hime, sister of a fifth-century empress. She is drawn with great distinction. Printed in green and pale rose. This print, formerly in the Rouart Collection, is reproduced in the V. I. Paris Catalogue, Vol. I, No. 178. Unique.

Size 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ x 5 $\frac{1}{2}$. Fine impression; the rose-color has grown pale, but the print is still in fine condition.

NUMBER 16

OKUMURA MASANOBU

100. 16 Girl Followed By Servant

Though this remarkable print is not signed, it can safely be attributed to Masanobu. Another print from the same series is reproduced in Von Seidlitz, page 74, and in Fenollosa's "Epochs," Appendix, page 2. This other print has a mica background. Though the mica background of the present print has obviously been restored in modern times, there is every reason to believe that it was thus designed by Masanobu.

Colored by hand with various shades of yellow, gold and black lacquer. Unique.

Size 12 x 8¾. A fine impression. In beautiful condition, though it has been restored as stated.

NUMBER 17

NUMBER 18

OKUMURA MASANOBU

17 Actor With Basket-hat

The actor Kikugoro. One of Masanobu's most distinguished figures. Printed in green and rose. From the Bing Collection and the Rouart Collection. Reproduced in the V. I. Paris Catalogue, Vol. I, No. 185. Unique.

Size $12\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{1}{4}$. Fine impression, in unusually fine condition.

18 Youth with Umbrella

An actor as a young man carrying an umbrella. Masanobu's characteristic elegance of design appears here to full advantage. Printed in green and rose. Unique.

Size $12\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{1}{4}$. Fine impression, in unusually fine condition.

TOYONOBU

(1711-1785)

19 Young Man With Umbrella

"The love of a younger son suffers in winter rain," is the way Mr. K. Matsuki interprets the theme of this poem. The younger sons, it seems, have less money to spend than has the eldest; so they must go on foot, under their umbrellas, to visit the ladies of their desire. The design is characteristic of Toyonobu at his best. Unique.

Size 24 x 5½. Fine impression and condition.

TOYONOBU

20 Girl Opening Umbrella

Toyonobu's peculiar dignity and grace are well exemplified in this rare and famous design. The print is finely colored by hand.

Size 28 x 6. Fine impression and condition.

21 Youth With Puppet

A reproduction, of a quality so extraordinary that one may well doubt if the original was any finer. Rare.

Size 27 x 10. Flawless.

TOYONOBU

22 The Awabi Diver

Toyonobu's nudes are of great distinction. The poem at the top of the picture makes a whimsical comparison between the withdrawing waves, that reveal the shell on the sands, and the withdrawing garments that reveal the body of the young girl-diver. Printed in two colors.

Size 29 x 4. Fine impression; good condition

TOYONOBU

70. 23 The Sambaso Dancer

The Sambaso was a dance usually given to celebrate the opening of a new play. On the dancer's robe appear the crane and the pine, emblems of longevity and good luck. Reproduced in "The Arts" for June, 1921, illustrating an article by the writer.

A three-color print, designed with fine vigor. Unique.

Size 29 x 4. A wholly matchless impression, in the freshest and most sparkling condition. Pillar-prints as well-preserved as this are great rarities.

KIYOHIO

15. 24 The Torii

Two actors in the rôles of a man and a woman sit on a mat, writing. A pink torii rises behind them. Richly colored by hand. From the Jaeckel Collection. Unique.

Size 13½ x 6¼. Fine impression; poor condition.

NUMBER 25

TOYONOBU

25 The Auspicious Gifts

Three actors—Sawamura Kodenji, Sanokawa Ichimatsu, and Nakamura Kiyosaburo—appear in the rôles of bearers of the traditional lucky symbols. Printed in two colors, green and pale rose. A distinguished design. Unique.

An uncut triptych; size 12 x 18. Fine impression. The original rose-color has faded to pale yellow.

KIYOHIO

(Worked c. 1740-1760)

26 Girl and Attendant

With wind-blown skirts, a graceful girl and her attendant pass under a willow. A charming design. Two-color print.

Size 10½ x 5½. Fine impression, in good condition.

27 Two Lovers

A girl is offering a cup to a youth who sits under a willow-tree. Graceful figures: fine color. A two-color print.

Size 11 x 5½. Fine impression and condition.

25. 28 The Dream

Scene from a play. A young man, from under his mosquito-net, sees the apparition of a beautiful girl floating by. Two-color print, in green and pink. All the prints of this early two-color period are rare. From the Jaekel Collection.

Size 12 x 5½. Fine impression and condition.

35. 29 Lovers in Moonlight

The lovers stand as if in dramatic secret conference, under two moonlit pine trees. The man is the actor Ichimura Kamezo in the rôle of Hambei; the woman is the actor Segawa Kikunojo in the rôle of Okiyo. A peculiarly interesting composition; the landscape background is handled in an exceptional way. Unique.

Size 12 x 5½. Fine impression; fair condition.

265- 45 The Crow and the Heron

This most famous of all Harunobu's masterpieces requires no description. This is the first-state of the blocks. Extremely rare.

Size $10\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$. A superb impression. The colors are beautifully preserved, and the embossing of the snow and the robes is sharp and clear. To what extent the pale grey traces of mildew interfere with the charm of the print is a question about which opinions may differ. To the writer, they seem of minor importance.

50 46 Harunobu's Beloved

The scene is the tea-house of Kasamori, outside Tokyo; and the slender girl who is serving a guest with tea is Osen, whom Harunobu so often depicted. The theory has been advanced that the seated figure is none other than the artist himself—but this can hardly be alleged with certainty. Rare.

Size $8\frac{1}{4} \times 10\frac{3}{4}$. Superb impression; flawless condition, with colors in their original strength.

60' 66 The Kagiya Tea-House at Kasamori

This print, formerly in the Hiersemann Collection, is reproduced on page 47 of Kurth's "Harunobu," and is elaborately discussed on pages 57-58. It is Dr. Kurth's theory that this extremely unusual, large print of Harunobu's has a special connection with the artist's personal history, and that it contains a portrait of Harunobu himself as well as one of his lady-love. (Note: the spots of oxidization which formerly disfigured the print, as it appears in Kurth, have been removed by the writer.) Extremely rare.

Size $10 \times 15\frac{1}{2}$. Good impression and condition.

67 The Flute-Player

*"From an infinite distance, the ghostly music!
Few and slender the tones, of delicate silver,
As stars are brodered on the veil of evening. . . .*

*"He passes by, the flute and the dreaming player—
Slow are his steps, his eyes are gravely downcast;
His pale robes sway in long folds with his passing.*

*"Out of the infinite distance, a ghostly music
Returns—in slender tones of delicate silver,
As stars are brodered on the veil of evening."*

One of the most famous of all known prints, and usually considered Harunobu's supreme achievement.

A girl muffled in layers of rich robes confronts the wind and snow. She is partially sheltered by an umbrella which a servant, one judges, is holding over her.

It is impossible to say who is the author of this notable print. Perhaps it is Harunobu; perhaps the young Shigemasa. The writer inclines to the latter view; but the print is here classified under Harunobu in deference to the views of its former owner in Japan.

273 The Rising of the Moon

An evening landscape, printed in delicate colors. The famous Monkey Bridge arches over the gorge. This is the early state of the print, with shadows on the water. Signed Taito, one of Hokusai's names, which he later gave to a pupil. This is thought to be the pupil's work.

Size 10 x 9½. Remarkable impression and condition.

274 The Monkey Bridge

A rushing torrent, with rising moon in the background. Reproduced in the writer's book, "Chats on Japanese Prints," page 371. The color-scheme, which differs in minute respects from what we are accustomed to in Hokusai, leads the writer to believe that this print may have been produced from Hokusai's designs shortly after his death. Very rare, and known only in this coloring.

297 The Bow Moon

*"Where the torrent leaps and falls,
And the hanging cliffs look down,—
Cloven grey and ruddy walls
Each with ragged forest-crown,—*

*There across the chasmèd deep
Spans a gossamer-bridge on high;
And below, from gulfs of sleep,
Mounts the Bow Moon up the sky."* . . .

Reproduced, in color, as the frontispiece to the writer's book, "Chats on Japanese Prints." It is the finest known copy of what is perhaps Hiroshige's masterpiece.

In 1912 this print was sent from Japan to America by a dealer, and was acquired by the writer. In 1920, it became the property of the late Sir Edmund Walker. In 1922, Sir Edmund Walker allowed the writer to re-acquire it, in exchange for a number of prints which Sir Edmund especially needed.

Size 15 x 7. Remarkable impression, in flawless state.
